

4th REGIMENT ROYAL MILITARY POLICE

Role

The role of 4th Regiment, Royal Military Police (4 RMP) is to provide Provost Support (primarily investigation and Crime Reduction services) to the military community within Greater London and the South East of England and to provide Provost Support to 101 Logistic Brigade on exercises or operations. The specific role of the Regimental Headquarters is to ensure that the Regiment is organised, trained and equipped to perform its roles whenever and wherever required.

Organisation

4 RMP is made up of both Regular Army and Territorial Army sub – units and comprises the following:

- | | | | |
|----|----------------------------------|---|-----------|
| a. | Regimental Headquarters | - | Aldershot |
| b. | 160 Provost Company | - | Aldershot |
| c. | 116 Provost Company (Volunteers) | - | Cannock |
| d. | 253 Provost Company (Volunteers) | - | London |

History

4 RMP was formed in April 2000 following the Government's Strategic Defence Review. During the Foot and Mouth Crisis of 2001, the Regiment was deployed to assist in the culling of infected animals and also to the Ministry of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food in London. In 2003, the Regular elements of the Regiment (with significant support from TA personnel) deployed to Iraq in support of 101 Logistic Brigade. Members of the Regiment have been deployed on numerous operations and exercises to Bosnia, Kosovo, Macedonia, Afghanistan, Cyprus,

Belize, Canada and Germany. At the present time both Regular and TA personnel are deployed in Iraq and a significant portion of 160 Provost Company is deployed in Helmand Province, Afghanistan.

The Future

Following a further Defence Review (Future Army Structures) in 2005, 4 RMP was granted an increase in both manpower and equipment. This has allowed 116 Provost Company and 253 Provost Company to open detachments in Manchester and Southampton respectively. Within Aldershot both the Regimental Headquarters and 160 Provost Company will occupy Provost Barracks (currently the home of 160 Provost Company) when it has been rebuilt in the near future as part of Project CONNAUGHT.
